

It will come to pass in the last days, that the mountain; promotion, of The House of Yahweh will be established in the chief of the nations, and will be raised above all congregations; and all nations will eventually flow to it. Isayah 2:2

The House Of Yahweh Newsletter

THE HOUSE OF YAHWEH ESTABLISHED IN THE LAST DAYS TO WARN ALL NATIONS OF COMING DESTRUCTION!

My Dear Friends,

Mark your calendar, put a note on the bathroom mirror, and start preparing for nuclear war over one-fourth of the earth beginning September 12, 2006.

Yahweh inspired many prophets to write about the Last Days' Work that He would establish. Here a little and there a little, Yahweh's plan is laid out. The House of Yahweh pulls this plan together for us to see so that no one would doubt where salvation, protection, and safety is for those who will repent and turn to Yahweh.

In this letter and those to follow, Yahweh willing, the details of this Last Days' Work will be firmly established in your mind. Therefore, you will have no doubt that Yahweh has a Work in this time period where one can learn the Laws and Prophecies of Yahweh, which is the Peaceful Solution for all the world.

For greater details get our books, The Lost Faith of the Apostles and Prophets and The End. You can rest assured that every religion on earth is not of Yahweh. All the inspired prophets, the apostles and the Savior spoke of this evil and adulterous generation, filled with deception that has devoured the whole earth. The Savior said that this last generation would be as it was in the days of Noah, just before the flood.

● Mattithyah 24:37—

But just as the days of Noah were, so will also be the coming of the Son of Man.

In Genesis we are given a perfect description of the condition of today's world and the mind-set of the people.

● Genesis 6:5—

Then Yahweh saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and every intent of the thoughts of man's heart was only evil, continually.

● Genesis 6:9-13—

9 These are the begettings of Noah. Noah was a just man, perfect in his begettings. Noah walked in the reverence of Yahweh.

10 And Noah begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Yapheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before Yahweh, and the earth was lawless, filled with violence.

12 So Yahweh looked upon the earth, and indeed it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted their way on the earth.

13 And Yahweh said to Noah: The end of all flesh has come before Me, for the earth is filled with violence through them; and they have corrupted themselves with the earth.

The prophecies of Yahweh are true and 100% reliable. The religions of this world cannot tell you what is going to take place because they are not of Yahweh. Only His House is sent to warn you. You will see this as you study this letter, and as these events come to pass, that you can put your trust in Yahweh.

The world is not only filled with violence but also hatred, unlawful lust, fornication, adultery, sodomy, homosexuality, lesbianism, and bestiality. All of these sins cause confusion in the mind to the point that one cannot make a correct decision. These abominations are not only practiced throughout the world, they are also promoted by the entertainment industry. The excerpts that follow, and those throughout this letter, show us how corrupt mankind has become. This corruption is what is causing the hatred and will lead us to destruction and the darkening of the sun in this two year time period.

Death to America! Tehran defiant as Security Council stand-off looms

Near the University of Tehran where the revolutionary faithful chant "Death to America" at Friday prayers, Iranians were defiant in the face of a Western threat to haul their country before the United Nations Security Council.

"Let them sanction us, Iran will not fall to its knees," declared Mohammed Baghari yesterday, a middle-aged greengrocer... "We're not like Iraq to bow down and be beaten by America. If our government behaves as it ought to behave, we will go on as we are.”

...said Tayebah Biniaz, a chemistry tutor...
“We faced sanctions from the whole world while we fought an eight-year war against Iraq. We coped with it then and we can cope with it now.”

Yesterday’s reaction on the streets of Tehran came as the Iranian foreign minister, Manouchehr Mottak, threatened to halt snap inspections by UN inspectors if Iran is referred to the Security Council for its “defiance” over its suspected nuclear weapons programme.

The hard-line President, Mahmud Ahmadinejad, said on state-run radio. “Iran is not frightened by the threat of any country and it will continue the path of the production of nuclear energy. Iranian people do not allow foreigners to block their progress.”

The harsh official reaction comes after Britain, France and Germany, backed by America, warned Tehran on Thursday that they planned to report Iran to the Security Council, which could impose sanctions. An emergency meeting of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) is expected in the first week of February to discuss the matter.

5 boys arrested in Beretania gang rape

Police arrested five Kalihi boys yesterday in connection with the Tuesday night gang rape of an 11-year-old girl in Beretania Community Park.

Four of the youths, two 13-year-olds, a 14-year-old and a 15-year-old, were arrested by police at their homes about 6:30 a.m. A fifth boy, age 11, turned himself in to police about two hours later.

The victim and an 11-year-old girlfriend were walking home from an event at school at 7:45 p.m. when one of the boys allegedly pulled the victim to a playground slide and sexually assaulted her, then called five other boys to do the same.

Sex at School Increasing, Some Educators Say

Perhaps the most shocking thing about students having sex in a high school auditorium was that other students didn’t find it very shocking at all.

“In all the years that I’ve been in education, I’ve never run into this one before,” said John Boronkay.

Actually, it’s not so new. According to some teenagers, sex on school property is more frequent than adults might imagine. And some adults who work with teenagers said it’s happening more often these days.

The fact that teenagers have sex is well established: Roughly half of all 15- to 19-year-olds have had vaginal intercourse, and more than half have had oral sex, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Musawwir, the Dunbar graduate, said she thinks students have sex in school because they have nowhere else to go. “And it’s the thrill of getting caught or not. And the media has a lot of things to do with it. They think that if they see it on TV, they can get away with it in real life.”

Cpl. Michael Rudinski, president of the Maryland Association of School Resource Officers, said teenagers do whatever they think their peers are doing, whether they are or not. “The thing about young people is when they see things in the mass media and they think it’s going on, they start doing it.”

Blank’s father, Bryan Blank, said that compared with when he was young “Society is more open. You see two women kissing on MTV. You have things talked about, like ‘straight versus gay.’”

The Deadly Dead-Baby Industry

Aborted fetuses are being dissected alive, harvested and sold in pieces to fuel a vast research enterprise. The results of “failed abortions” don’t stymie the ghouls who profit from and run this industry. If the “aborted” babies are still alive when they see the light of the operating theater, they will be drowned, stabbed, beaten to death with tongs, or perhaps simply left to die before they are rendered.

The cadaver of a single aborted fetus isn’t worth very much if sold whole ($600 if more than eight weeks old) but worth thousands if rendered into various components, of which the brain commands the highest price, $999 (30% discount if significantly fragmented), and with the skin of an aborted baby of more than 12 weeks gestation bringing in a mere $100, and a single eye no more than $50.

Opening Lines is one of two such organizations that were discovered by Mark Crutcher of Life Dynamics Inc. The other is the Anatomic Gift Foundation, founded in 1994 by Jim and Brenda Bardsley, who have since opened branch offices in Phoenix, Arizona and Aurora, Colorado.

The Opening Lines brochure states that “Our daily average case volume exceeds 1,500 and we serve clinics across the United States.” Dr. Jones is said to be an aggressive salesman who is “eager to offer reduced rates for bulk orders. He also said in a recent taped interview that he is actively pursuing fetal tissue sources in Mexico and Canada.”

It shouldn’t be too hard to expand the fetal tissue trade into one of the most profitable enterprises on Earth, should it? I would guess that the market potential in the trade of fetuses alone must be in the order of about $40 billion per year.

This translates to 46 million new women each year having an abortion.

The Religions Are Separated From The Creator Today Just As In The Days Of Noah

The Prophet Isayah was inspired to describe this time period—the Last Days—perfectly.

● Isayah 59:1-2—

1 Behold, Yahweh’s hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; nor His ear heavy, that it cannot hear.

2 But your own iniquities have separated you from your Father; and your own sins have caused Him to hide His face from you, so He will not listen.

What is sin? The Apostle Yahchanan answered this question.

● I Yahchanan 3:4—

Whoever commits sin, transgresses also the Law; for sin is the transgression of the Law.

Breaking Yahweh’s Law, which is sin, is what we are told to repent of. We are also told to convert to keeping Yahweh’s Laws.

● Acts 3:19—

Repent therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out; that times of refreshing may come from the presence of Yahweh.

Please notice, if you do not convert to keeping Yahweh’s Laws your sins will not be blotted out. The Apostle Shaul was inspired to write concerning willful sinning. When reading these Scriptures, keep in mind that Christian preachers teach that the Apostle Shaul (Paul) did away with Yahweh’s Laws and taught the people to sin. Of course, this is a lie, but that’s what the whole system teaches.

● Hebrews 10:26-27—

26 For if we sin willfully after we have received the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins,

27 But a certain fearful expectation of judgment, and fiery indignation which will devour the adversaries.

Lying preachers all over the world, not wanting to admit that their lust controls them, preach that the apostles and the Savior did away with the great Laws of Yahweh. The Savior spoke of them, saying that they lie because their deeds are evil.

● Yahchanan 3:19-20—

19 Now this is the condemnation: Light has come into the world, but men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

20 For every one who practices evil hates the light, and neither comes to the light for fear his deeds would be exposed.

The Savior also shows that the religious leaders will be rejected. In speaking to them and to you, the Savior says the following:

● Mattithyah 7:15, 21-23—

15 Beware of false prophets who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.

21 Not everyone who says to Me; Teacher! Teacher! will enter into the Kingdom of Yahweh, but only he who does the will of My Father Who is in heaven.

22 Many will say to Me in that day; Teacher! Teacher! Have we not prophesied in Your Name, and cast out demons in Your Name, and in Your Name performed many wonderful works?

23 But then I will declare to them; I never knew you. Get away from Me, you who practice iniquity; you who break the Law of Yahweh!

According to the Greek dictionary in Strong's Exhaustive Concordance, the word iniquity is word #458 from word #459, and means: transgression of the law, not subject to the law.

458. ἀνομία ἀνομία, an-om-ee'-ah; from 459; illegality, i.e. violation of law or (gen.) wickedness:—iniquity, × transgress (-ion of) the law, unrighteousness.

459. ἀνομος ἀνομός, an'-om-os; from r (as a neg. particle) and 3557; lawless, i.e. (neg.) not subject to (the Jewish) law; (by impl. a Gentile), or (pos.) wicked:—without law, lawless, transgressor, unlawful, wicked.

The religions today are leading the people deeper and deeper into sin, sickness, disease, confusion, violence, hatred and in just a few months...nuclear war that will kill one-third of mankind over one-fourth of the earth. Your Bible shows why there is so much evil in the world in this last generation. Notice what the Savior says.

● Luke 6:39—

Then He spoke a parable to them: Can the blind lead the blind? Will they not both fall into the ditch?

The world today, by blindly following preachers who rebel against Yahweh's Laws, is being led into defilement, and soon nuclear war.

You really need to read these Scriptures and see what Yahweh is showing you about this end time and the troubles that have spread worldwide and are growing. See what Yahweh says that your rebellious ways are causing. Prophecy shows that these curses are upon the priests as well as all the people.

● Isayah 24:1-6—

1 Before Yahweh's very eyes, the earth is being made empty and it is being made waste, the face of it is being perverted and its inhabitants are being scattered abroad;

2 And it will be: as with the people, so with the priest; as with the servant, so with his owner; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with him who takes usury, so with him who gives usury to him:

3 The land will be utterly emptied and utterly plundered, for it has come to pass that this judgment has been pronounced. For Yahweh has said: A curse causeless does not come (Proverbs 26:2). I did not bring this curse upon you; you brought this curse upon yourselves because of the evil you are practicing!

4 The earth mourns and fades away, the world mourns and fades away, and the haughty people of the earth languish.

5 The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants of it, because they have transgressed the Laws, changed the ordinance, and broken the everlasting covenant.

6 Because of this, the curse has devoured the earth, and they who dwell therein are desolate; therefore, the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.

Notice verse 5, it's the breaking of Yahweh's Laws that is causing the sickness, hatred, and wars to take place. Now notice what Yahweh, the Creator of heaven and earth, says is causing all the lawbreaking to take place—it's the religious leaders.

● Yeremyah 23:20—

The justice of Yahweh will not return until He has executed and performed the thoughts of His heart! In the latter days you will understand it perfectly.

In the Last Days you will understand it. Why? Because Yahweh has established His House according to the prophecies written in your Bible. The House of Yahweh is the only religious organization on earth that is fighting the rebellion against Yahweh's Laws.

Remember what the Savior said in Yahchanan 3:19-20, the preachers love sin (darkness)—unlawful lust, fornication, adultery, thievery, and murder. Yes, I know it's shocking but it's true and it's shown in your Bible. What goes on in darkness and behind closed doors will be revealed. They love darkness, sin, the Savior said, more than light because their deeds are evil. Their evil deeds have led the whole world into defilement, and in the next 21 months the worst epidemics, wars, and destruction ever in the history of mankind. Yes, 21 months! At the end of which you will see the sun darkened from the nuclear wars that mankind will bring upon themselves under the leadership of rebellious religions.

Notice what Yeremyah, the prophet of Yahweh, was inspired to write.

● Yeremyah 23:20-21—

20 Because they acted defiantly against Yahweh, He will not turn away until He has executed and performed the thoughts of His heart! In the latter days you will understand it perfectly.

21 I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran; I have not spoken of them, yet they prophesied.

The preaching of today's religions is defiant towards Yahweh's Laws. It's not bringing peace. It's bringing all manner of evil. It's not turning the world from evil, its training them in evil. What does your Bible show would change this scenario and bring peace and health.

● Yeremyah 23:22—

But if they had stood in My counsel, and had caused My people to hear My words; the Law and the Prophets, then they would have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.

Compare that with the Savior's words concerning this time period.

● Mattithyah 24:11-15—

11 And many false prophets will rise, and will deceive the many.

12 And because iniquity; the breaking of Yahweh's Law, will abound, the love of the many will grow cold.

13 But he who endures until the end, the same will be saved.

14 And this message of the Kingdom will be preached to all the world by the one who bears witness to all nations; and then the end will come.

15 Therefore, when you will see the deadly diseases caused by the many sexual perversions spoken of by Daniyl the prophet, the saints will speak at Abel so that those who read will understand.

Many false prophets—religious leaders, priests, preachers not standing in Yahweh's counsel and not teaching Yahweh's Laws—cause iniquity, which is sin, to abound, just as verse 12 shows. Teaching Yahweh's Laws does not cause sin to abound. Teaching that Yahweh's Laws have been done away with causes sin to multiply. Sin, which causes curses as Isayah 24:1-6 shows, will continue to multiply for this time period. The Savior shows that in this generation, sin will abound (multiply, increase), causing curses (plagues, disease epidemics, pandemics).

● Mattithyah 24:7—

For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there will be famines, and pestilences; disease epidemics, and earthquakes in place after place.

The Same Thing That Separates This World's Religions From Yahweh Is Causing Disease Epidemics, Pandemics, Confusion, Hatred And In A Few Months, The Beginning Of The Worst Wars In History

Disease epidemics are all over the world today and according to UN and US reports, as well as Bible prophecy, they are expected to get worse than any other time in the history of mankind. The symptoms begin when the person with the disease starts having aches and pains, rashes, swelling, sniffing, coughing, itching and burning. People go to doctors for a diagnosis, and are then treated with various drugs. The doctor treats the symptoms which sometimes go away, and sometimes they won't. In more cases than not the cause remains and the disease slowly grows worse until the person becomes crippled, blind, deaf, or dead. In all the months or years of suffering, most people never find out the actual cause of their illness. I want you to know the true cause of your sickness.

Below are a few excerpts that show where sickness and disease starts. Listed are only a few of the hundreds of diseases that are linked to syphilis; yet, it is only one of over 125 STDs that cause other related diseases. All disease is caused by sin. Sin causes syphilis. Read the following articles carefully. You may already have syphilis related diseases. Your children may have them. They are all over the world in this evil and adulterous generation.

SYPHILIS

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS

Syphilis is a multi-system, multi-symptom disorder that occurs primarily through sexual transmission, though the disease can be spread through blood transfusion and direct contact with an infected lesion. Patients tend to be younger, with a history of engaging in sex.

I would like to interject here and bring to your attention that this is fornication. Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, Tenth Edition shows us that fornication is sexual relations between partners who are not married to each other.

for·ni·ca·tion n. consensual sexual intercourse between partners who are not married to each other.

Elderly patients may manifest late-stage syphilis many years after the sexual contact was made.

In cases of congenital syphilis, the patient may manifest Hutchinson's triad (interstitial keratitis, deafness and malformed teeth), osteochondritis (inflammation of both bone and cartilage), chorioretinitis, hepatosplenomegaly (enlargement of the liver and spleen), and anorexia.

In the primary stage of acquired syphilis, the patient develops a painless chancre at the site of inoculation, as well as regional lymphadenopathy. While primarily genital, chancres may develop on the eyelid and conjunctiva. Other ocular signs in the primary stage include conjunctivitis, blepharitis, and alopecia.

In the secondary stage of acquired syphilis, the patient will develop malaise, lymphadenopathy, fever, maculopapular skin lesions on the palms and soles, joint pain, headache, and loss of appetite.

Syphilis

Syphilis, which is also called lues (from a Latin word meaning plague), has been a major public health problem since the sixteenth century. The disease was treated with mercury or other ineffective remedies until World War I, when effective treatments based on arsenic or bismuth were introduced. These were succeeded by antibiotics after World War II. At that time, the number of cases in the general population decreased, partly because of aggressive public health measures. This temporary decrease, combined with the greater amount of attention given to AIDS in recent years, leads some people to think that syphilis is no longer a serious problem. In fact, the number of cases of syphilis in the United States has risen since 1980. This increase affects both sexes, all races, all parts of the nation, and all age groups, including adults over 60. The number of women of childbearing age with syphilis is the highest that has been recorded since the 1940s. About 25,000 cases of infectious syphilis in adults are reported annually in the United States. It is estimated, however, that 400,000 people in the United States need treatment for syphilis every year, and that the annual worldwide total is 50 million persons.

The increased incidence of syphilis in recent years is associated with changes in sexual behavior. With respect to changing patterns of conduct, a sharp increase in the number of people having sex with multiple partners makes it more difficult for public health doctors to trace the contacts of infected persons.

The chances of contracting syphilis from an infected person in the early stages of the disease range from 30-50%.

Primary syphilis

Primary syphilis is the stage of the organism's entry into the body. The first signs of infection are not always noticed. After an incubation period ranging from 10-90 days, the patient develops a chancre, which is a small blister-like sore about 0.5 in (13 mm) in size. Most chancres are on the genitals, but may also develop in or on the mouth or on the breasts. Rectal chancres are common in male homosexuals. Chancres in women are sometimes overlooked if they develop in the vagina or on the cervix. The chancres are not painful and disappear in three to six weeks even without treatment. They resemble the ulcers of lymphogranuloma venereum, herpes simplex virus, or skin tumors.

About 70% of patients with primary syphilis also develop swollen lymph nodes near the chancre. The nodes may have a firm or rubbery feel when touched but are not usually painful.

Secondary syphilis

Syphilis enters its secondary stage ranging from six to eight weeks to six months after the infection begins. The skin eruption may resolve in a few weeks or last as long as a year. The patient may also develop condylomata lata, which are weepy pinkish or gray areas of flattened skin in the moist areas of the body. The skin rashes, mouth and genital ulcers, and condylomata lata are all highly infectious.

About 50% of patients with secondary syphilis develop swollen lymph nodes in the armpits, groin, and neck areas; about 10% develop inflammations of the eyes, kidney, liver, spleen, bones, joints, or the meninges (membranes covering the brain and spinal cord). They may also have a flu-like general illness with a low fever, chills, loss of appetite, headaches, runny nose, sore throat, and aching joints.

Latent syphilis

Latent syphilis is a phase of the disease characterized by relative absence of external symptoms. The term latent does not mean that the disease is not progressing or that the patient cannot infect others. For example, pregnant women can transmit syphilis to their unborn children during the latency period.

The latent phase is sometimes divided into early latency (less than two years after infection) and late latency. During early latency, patients are at risk for spontaneous relapses marked by recurrence of the ulcers and skin rashes of secondary syphilis. In late latency, these recurrences are much less likely. Late latency may either resolve spontaneously or continue for the rest of the patient's life.

Tertiary syphilis

Syphilis progresses to a third or tertiary stage in about 35-40% of patients. Some patients develop so-called benign late syphilis, which begins between three and 10 years after infection and is characterized by the development of gummas. Gummas are rubbery tumor-like growths that are most likely to involve the skin or long bones but may also develop in the eyes, mucous membranes, throat, liver, or stomach lining. Cardiovascular syphilis occurs in 10-15% of patients who have progressed to tertiary syphilis. It develops between 10 and 25 years after infection and often occurs together with neurosyphilis. Cardiovascular syphilis usually begins as an inflammation of the arteries leading from the heart and heart attacks, scarring of the aortic valves, congestive heart failure, or the formation of an aortic aneurysm.

About 8% of patients with syphilis will develop symptoms in the central nervous system that include both physical and psychiatric symptoms. Neurosyphilis can appear at any time, from five to 35 years after the onset of primary syphilis.

Congenital syphilis has increased at a rate of 400-500% over the past decade, on the basis of criteria introduced by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in 1990. In 1994, more than 2,200 cases of congenital syphilis were reported in the United States. The prognosis for early congenital syphilis is poor: about 54% of infected fetuses die before or shortly after birth. Those who survive may look normal at birth but show signs of infection between three and eight weeks later.

Infants with early congenital syphilis have systemic symptoms that resemble those of adults with secondary syphilis. There is a 40-60% chance that the child's central nervous system will be infected. These infants may have symptoms ranging from jaundice, enlargement of the spleen and liver, and anemia to skin rashes, condylomata lata, certain congenital bone abnormalities, inflammation of the lungs, "snuffles" (a persistent runny nose), and swollen lymph nodes.

Children who develop symptoms after the age of two years are said to have late congenital syphilis. The characteristic symptoms include facial deformities (saddle nose), Hutchinson's teeth (abnormal upper incisors), saber shins, dislocated joints, deafness, mental retardation, paralysis, and seizure disorders.

Syphilis can be transmitted from the mother to the fetus through the placenta at any time during pregnancy, or through the child's contact with syphilitic ulcers during the birth process. The chances of infection are related to the stage of the mother's disease. Almost all infants of mothers with primary or secondary syphilis will be infected, whereas the infection rate drops to 40% if the mother is in the early latent stage and 6-14% if she has late latent syphilis.

Pregnancy does not affect the progression of syphilis in the mother; however, pregnant women should not be treated with tetracyclines.

Syphilis has been closely associated with HIV infection since the late 1980s. Syphilis sometimes mimics the symptoms of AIDS. Conversely, AIDS appears to increase the severity of syphilis in patients suffering from both diseases, and to speed up the development or appearance of neurosyphilis. Patients with HIV are also more likely to develop lues maligna, a skin disease that sometimes occurs in secondary syphilis. Lues maligna is characterized by areas of ulcerated and dying tissue.

There are many STDs such as syphilis that cause a myriad of diseases. We are only showing a few of the related diseases which are the by-product of this STD.

Chlamydia Escapes Defenses By Cloaking Itself with Lipids

DURHAM, N.C. – Duke University Medical Center microbiologists have discovered that the parasitic bacteria Chlamydia escapes cellular detection and destruction by cloaking itself in droplets of fat within the cell. The researchers said that their findings represent the first example of a bacterial pathogen “mimicking” such a structure, or organelle, within a cell.

Chlamydia has been implicated in sexually transmitted infections, atherosclerosis and some forms of pneumonia.

Chlamydia is an obligate intracellular parasite that prospers within a host cell by hijacking the cell’s internal machinery to survive and replicate. The bacterium lives within the cell in a protective capsule known as an inclusion. To date, it has not been clearly understood how Chlamydia has evolved to evade the cell’s internal intruder alert system.

“In our experiments, we found that Chlamydia recruits lipid droplets from within the cell and stimulates the production of new droplets, which cover the surface of the inclusion,” explained Yadunanda Kumar, Ph.D., a post-doctoral fellow in Duke’s Department of Molecular Genetics and Microbiology. “This action of surrounding itself with lipid droplets may represent an example of organelle mimicry, where the chlamydial inclusion is protected from the cell’s defenses by being perceived by the cell as just another lipid droplet.”

For their experiments, the researchers studied Chlamydia trachomatis, which is spread in humans by sexual contact and can lead to such disorders urinary tract infections, eye infections and arthritis.

If unchecked, the inclusion will continue to grow until it fills the entire cell, causing it to explode, releasing thousands of bacteria ready to infect adjacent cells.

STDs are caused by sin, which is the breaking of the Laws that Yahweh shared with mankind. These Laws were designed to guide mankind to abundant, peaceful, healthy living, and guide them away from sickness, disease, confusion, hatred, violence, and death.

There are 613 Laws and together they work perfectly for those who will keep them. When any one of the 613 Laws is broken, the human body begins to suffer. When all of the 613 Laws are broken, which is prevalent in today’s world, all life suffers. Breaking Yahweh’s Laws brings defilement to mankind and the earth, as the prophets were inspired to write.

Remember, sin causes syphilis. It also causes chlamydia, HIV, HCV, and all other STDs. STDs alone would eventually wipe out mankind. Read again what Yahweh prophesied long before this epidemic started.

● I Corinthians 6:18—

Flee sexual immorality (fornication, adultery, sodomy, bestiality)! All other sins that a man commits are outside his body; but he who sins sexually, sins against his own body.

In the book of Revelation, it describes the religions in the Last Days that Yahweh warns us to come out from among them so that we will not suffer from the plagues caused by their sins.

● Revelation 18:3-4—

3 For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth have grown rich through the abundance of her delicacies.

4 And I heard another voice from heaven, saying: Come out of her, My people, so that you do not partake in her sins, and so that you do not receive of her plagues.

Notice what the word plagues implies. These plagues are all caused by sin (fornication, adultery, sodomy, etc.). This information is evidence that the whole world is plagued by the curses of sin at this time. Look closely at this list of plagues and you will find what your doctor told you was causing your pain, then remember that it all started with sin.

plague, n.—Syn. Epidemic, Black Death, influenza; see disease. —Syn. Sickness, malady, ailment, illness, indisposition, unhealthiness, disorder, condition, complaint, spell, distemper, unsoundness, infirmity, affection, visitation, morbidity, pathological case, psychosomatic illness, epidemic, plague, pestilence, infection, virus, contagion, affliction, complication, syndrome, fever, nervous disorder, functional disorder, pathological condition, attack, seizure, collapse, breakdown, pathology, symptomatology, but*, temperature*; see also illness 1. Ant. health, strength, vigor.

Specific diseases include —diseases affecting various organs or the body generally: cancer, ulcer, shock, paresis, paralysis, focal infection, atrophy, psittacosis, chicken pox, cholera, diphtheria, malaria, measles, German measles, mumps, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, Lyme disease, Legionnaires disease, rabies, scarlet fever, scarlatina, smallpox, toxic-shock syndrome, tularemia, typhoid fever, typhus, leprosy, hepatitis, yellow fever; venereal or social diseases: gonorrhea, clap* dose*; herpes, AIDS, chlamydia, genital warts, syphilis, French disease*, maladie anglaise (French), English disease, pox*; diseases affecting the brain and nervous system: encephalitis, sleeping sickness, meningitis, aphasia, stroke, Alzheimer’s disease, hemiplegia, Reyes syndrome, brain tumor, poliomyelitis, polio, infantile paralysis, sclerosis, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, Lou Gehrigs disease, multiple sclerosis, MS, delirium tremens, D.T.s; diseases affecting the respiratory tract: bronchitis, rhinitis, common cold, sniffles, cough, influenza, flu, Asian flu, Hong Kong flu, laryngitis, pleurisy, viral pneumonia, pulmonary pneumonia, phthisis, tonsillitis, emphysema, strep throat*, sinusitis, croup, tuberculosis, TB, whooping cough; diseases affecting the digestive system: acidosis, ulcer, appendicitis, Bright’s disease, colitis, diabetes, diarrhea, constipation, diverticulitis, dysentery, anasarca, dropsy, gravel, jaundice; diseases affecting the circulatory system: angina pectoris, high blood pressure, hypertension, cystic fibrosis, hemorrhage, hardening of the arteries, hypertension, heart murmur, palpitations, arteriosclerosis, atherosclerosis, coronary thrombosis; skin diseases: athlete’s foot, boils, warts, eczema, psoriasis, erysipelas, dermatitis, scabies, ringworm, trench foot, acne; diseases of the joints and muscles: arthritis, osteoporosis, ends, cramp, charley horse*, crick*; rheumatism, lumbago; diseases of the eye: cataracts, glaucoma, conjunctivitis, pink eye, trachoma; allergies: hay fever, rose fever asthma, hives; disease of the endocrine glands: hyperthyroidism, hypothyroidism; diseases common to animals and birds: anthrax, black leg, blind staggers, bloat, cholera, colic, distemper, encephalitis, hydrophobia, rabies, heaves, hoof and mouth disease, glanders, milk sickness, pneumonitis, croup, spavin, trichomoniasis; diseases common to plants: blight, rot, rust, scale, smut, wilt;

Mental disorder, derangement, psychopathy, madness, dementia, amnesia, lunacy, psychosis, alienation, neurosis, psychoneurosis, phobia, mania, craziness, aberration; see also complex 1, disease.

Mental illnesses and disorders include: schizophrenia, dementia praecox, catatonia, paranoia, hysteria, catalepsy, manic-depressive disorder, bipolar disorder, depression, melancholia, cyclothymia, delusion, hallucination, delirium, amnesia, split personality, multiple personality, autism, mental retardation, senile dementia, obsession, fixation, compulsion, obsessive compulsive disorder, mania, phobia; nervous breakdown*.

Disorders usually accompanied by impaired mental functioning include: Down syndrome, Mongolism*, cretinism, microcephaly, hydrocephaly, Alzheimer’s disease.

Mental derangement in one who formerly had mental health; lunacy specifically suggests periodic spells of insanity, but is now most commonly used in its extended sense of extreme folly; dementia is the general term of an acquired mental disorder, now generally one of organic origin, as distinguished from amentia (congenital mental deficiency); psychosis is the psychiatric term for any of various specialized mental disorders, functional or organic, in which the personality is seriously disorganized.

Due to the sins of rebellious men and women, some STDs have been around for thousands of years but not in such great numbers, nor as severe as they have become in the past fifty years, this last generation.

When you read about the murders of millions of babies by abortion notice the dates and how these sins have increased, or abounded, as the Savior said concerning this generation. Yes, this god that has newly come up is promising life by murder in this generation.

● Mattithyah 24:11-12, 7, 34—

11 And many false prophets will rise, and will deceive the many.

12 And because iniquity; the breaking of Yahweh's Law, will abound, the love of the many will grow cold.

7 For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there will be famines, and pestilences; disease epidemics, and earthquakes in place after place:

34 Truly I say to you: That generation will not pass away, until all these things are fulfilled.

All of these things increase in hatred, sickness, and sin.

A Scriptural generation is seventy years. Since the invention of television and since Hollywood became the world's #1 teacher, morals have dropped to the point where everyone on earth has become a fornicator, adulterer, sodomite, or lesbian, either physically or mentally, as the Savior shows in the following Scriptures.

● Mattithyah 5:27-28—

27 You have heard that it was said by the people of ancient times: You shall not commit adultery;

28 But I say to you: Whoever looks on a woman with lust for her, has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

There is also an increase in bestiality, men and women lusting after animals and birds. The following article shows that there are even establishments where one can go to fulfill this abominable lust, but there is a consequence to pay.

Sermon Tape Program!

The House of Yahweh offers a program to make the cassette-taped sermons available as soon as possible. There is no quicker way to grow in the wisdom and knowledge of Yahweh, than by hearing the Word of Yahweh, over and over again. You will gain vital information not contained in the Prophetic Word magazine and the monthly newsletter.

Seattle man dies after sex with horse

Police say death was accidental, investigate farm on cruelty suspicions

SEATTLE - A Seattle man died after engaging in anal sex with a horse at a farm suspected of being a gathering place for people seeking to have sex with livestock, police said Friday.

The horse involved in the incident was not harmed, and an autopsy of the unnamed man concluded that "the manner of death was accidental...due to perforation of the colon," a police spokesman said.

Although sex with animals is not illegal in Washington state, Urquhart said that investigators were looking into whether the farm, located in Enumclaw, 40 miles southeast of Seattle, allowed sex with smaller animals that resulted in animal cruelty, which is a crime.

Are people such as this man the worst sinners in the world? The Savior said no.

● Luke 13:2-5—

2 But Yahshua, rebuking, said to them: Do you think that these Galileans were sinners above every other Galilean, because they suffered such things?

3 I tell you, No! But unless you repent you will all likewise perish!

4 Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were sinners above every man who lived in Jerusalem?

5 I tell you, No! But unless you repent, you will all likewise perish!

The Savior shows us that the sinner must repent or perish. However, today's preachers say don't worry, the Savior did away with the Laws; just come to the altar, accept the Lord Jesus Christ, and leave your money in the offering plate. Did the Savior really say don't worry, I did it all for you? No, He said to sin no more.

● Yahchanan 5:14—

Afterward, Yahshua found him in the sacred precincts of The House of Yahweh, and said to him: Behold, you are healed. Sin no more, or a worse thing will come upon you.

The preachers say Jesus did away with the Laws that would have saved you from your sicknesses. They also did away with the command of the Savior to sin no more, because they love darkness more than light. There is a huge difference between what the Scriptures say and what the preachers say today.

Those Who Create Diseases Also Spread Diseases

These people do not keep their sicknesses to themselves. They breed them in each other's bodies and those of animals and birds. They mutate them and pass them to others.

Many of the diseases mentioned previously can be passed on to others through non-sexual as well as sexual contact. They can even be passed to others through food and other items, such as doorknobs, shopping carts, public facilities, eating utensils, etc. These diseases can also be passed from parent to child as a result of sins that were committed as far back as the fourth generation. Today, anything passed from parent to offspring is called heredity.

The Scriptures show that diseases are organisms that were taken into the body by sin. Simply put, sin is disobedience to the Laws of Yahweh that would guide one away from acquiring an organism that brings sickness or disease into one's body. These organisms, acquired from sin, can cause infection to begin in any organ of the body, from the time the sin was first committed, until much later in life. Different sins bring different organisms into the body. The more sins committed, the more deadly the organisms that are acquired, mutated, and multiplied.

Science has recently found that these organisms, when mixed together in the human body, can breed and mutate new organisms, sometimes more deadly than the original organism. That's what we are facing now with AIDS. AIDS is being mixed and mutated so rapidly that scientists are telling us there is no way to find a vaccine for the many different types of AIDS viruses.

The more of these organisms acquired, the more that can be passed on to our offspring. The more the child is born with, the more likely his or her chances are of dying at birth or at a very young age. Some children die a few months after birth because of the sins of the parents, as studies show.

Not only do sins bring thousands of virus infective agents, causing various diseases, but sin also brings unwanted pregnancies. The way these pregnancies are handled in this generation shows the extreme decline in morals and the abounding sin in this evil and adulterous generation. This began in the 1950s, after television had about 10 years to teach the world how to sin and show the world how desirable they could make sin appear. Notice what the Savior says concerning this generation.

● Mattithyah 24:7, 11-12, 34—

7 For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there will be famines, and pestilences; disease epidemics, and earthquakes in place after place:

11 And many false prophets will rise, and will deceive the many.

12 And because iniquity; the breaking of Yahweh's Law, will abound, the love of the many will grow cold.

34 Truly I say to you: That generation will not pass away, until all these things are fulfilled.

● Genesis 6:5, 11-12—

5 Then Yahweh saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and every intent of the thoughts of man's heart was only evil, continually.

11 The earth also was corrupt before Yahweh, and the earth was lawless, filled with violence.

12 So Yahweh looked upon the earth, and indeed it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted their way on the earth.

● II Timothy 3:1-5—

1 Know this also: that in the last days perilous times will come.

2 For men will be lovers of themselves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 Without natural affection, trucebreakers; without a truce, unforgiving, false accusers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of those who are righteous,

4 Traitors; betrayers, headstrong, arrogant, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of Yahweh,

5 Having a form of holiness, but denying the authority of it—from such turn away!

When you read the excerpt below, keep in mind the previous Scriptures that describe this time period and the moral decay that has covered the earth in the past fifty years.

Secrets of the Dead-Baby Industry

Aborted fetuses are being dissected alive, harvested and sold in pieces to fuel a vast research enterprise

By Celeste McGovern

The doctor walked into the lab and set a steel pan on the table. "Got you some good specimens," he said. "Twins." The technician looked down at a pair of perfectly formed 24-week-old fetuses moving and gasping for air. Except for a few nicks from the surgical tongs that had pulled them out, they seemed uninjured. "There's something wrong here," the technician stammered. "They are moving. I don't do this. That's not in my contract." She watched the doctor take a bottle of sterile water and fill the pan until the water ran up over the babies' mouths and noses. Then she left the room. "I would not watch those fetuses moving," she recalls. "That's when I decided it was wrong."

The technician uses the pseudonym "Kelly." She has her back to the camera, she wears a wig, and her voice is electronically modified because she says she fears for her life. Until a few months ago Kelly worked for a Maryland company called the Anatomic Gift Foundation. Her job was to procure fetal tissue for research. She worked at a Planned Parenthood clinic that was also a member of the National Abortion Federation. Her interview appears on the May issue of "Life Talk" video magazine the first of a monthly series of videos released by Life Dynamics Inc., a renegade pro-life group based in Denton, Texas, that admits to having spies work in abortion clinics to uncover their most closely guarded secrets.

This week the group is releasing the documentary evidence it has gathered since Kelly approached them nearly two years ago. Life Dynamics has dozens of order forms from researchers requesting fetal parts, price lists for fetal organs and tissue, and donation consent forms for women undergoing abortion. It offers a gruesome glimpse at a vast trade in human tissue from babies that are aborted, and sometimes vivisected, to satiate the exploding multibillion-dollar biotechnology industry.

The traffic in tissue flows worldwide into respected tax-funded laboratories, including Canadian ones. The research itself is usually for laudable goals, from helping prenatal infants survive to curing Parkinson's disease. But the trade, worth billions, raises myriad ethical questions: Are some humans being killed to benefit others? Are women being exploited to support tissue collection? Who is profiting from the trade? And what are the social implications of its existence?

Once the stuff of cheap science-fiction, human clones, artificial wombs and human-animal cross-species are all now serious possibilities. Sexless procreation is already a reality with in vitro fertilization. Selective breeding of human beings is commonplace thanks to embryo screening and "genetic terminations." And human-human brain cell transplants are government-funded. All of these endeavours rely on aborted fetuses.

"These researchers don't want to see the whole baby. That would freak them out. They think they're about higher medicine that is serving a cause — not about dead babies."

Scientists have used fetal tissue in research since at least the 1950s, (notice the date) says Pittsburgh researcher Suzanne Rini, author of the 1995 book Beyond Abortion: A Chronicle of Fetal Experimentation. Thirty years ago, as abortion laws were relaxing and some second- and third-trimester abortions were performed by hysterotomy (essentially a Caesarean section), experiments on live fetuses were cutting-edge technology. Geoffrey Chamberlain received a professional award for research (outlined in the March 1968 (notice the date) issue of The American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology) in which he took live aborted fetuses, attached them to an artificial placenta, perfused them to see if he could make them live, and then pulled the plug on them. No one objected.

It was shortly after that article, Mrs. Rini notes, that the Cambridge Evening Post featured a story on Lawrence Lawn, a physician who did manage to provoke controversy when it was learned that he was procuring live fetuses from a private abortion clinic. "We are simply allowing something which is destined for the incinerator to benefit mankind," he said, obliging a photographer with a picture of himself standing next to a dying fetus suspended in a perfusion tank. Yet even Dr. Lawn believed there were limits. "Of course we would not dream of experimenting with a viable child. We would not consider that to be right."

"All the limbs, the arms, the head, the chest cavity were never invaded. They were all completely intact. Sometimes the fetuses appeared to be dead, but when you would open the chest cavity you'd see the heart beating."

With the decriminalization of abortion in the 1970s, (in this generation) fetal research became, in the words of one ethicist, a "golden opportunity for researchers. The public almost never heard about fetal experimentation. But by the 1980s, (in this generation) some of the most macabre (gruesome) research was being publicly funded. Mrs. Rini catalogues experiments ranging from the perfusion of impaled beating fetal hearts with adrenaline and caffeine to eye-tissue transplants and skin grafting. Dr. Bernard Gondos of the University of Connecticut at Farmington, whose research on fetal gonads described most of his specimens as "previably dead," lamented having to import fetuses from outside the United States. Dr. Karen Holbrook of the University of Washington received a $259,740 grant in 1984-85 for her work on "Fetal Skin Biology" using first, second- and third-trimester human fetuses. She told Mrs. Rini: "Hopefully they are not born alive. It's better to avoid that. The skin is taken after fetal demise." Asked if the skin diseases she was trying to diagnose prenatally were fatal, Dr. Holbrook replied, "No, but they ruin your life."

By the 1980s (in this generation) transplants had become entrenched, and fetal tissue, which grows quickly and is less likely to trigger an immune reaction in a host, became even more coveted. Fetal tissue transplants became part of efforts to treat diabetes, Huntington's disease, blindness, spinal cord injury, Parkinson's disease, leukemia and more. In 1988, U.S. president George Bush banned federal funding of fetal human-to-human transplants. This move was widely mistaken for a ban on all fetal tissue research; in fact, most such research carried on unimpeded.

At this point in prophecy, the evil of mankind is far from reaching the full impact that this evil and adulterous generation will leave on this world and throughout the universe. It is Yahweh's judgment to allow mankind to reach the full depth of rebellion against His Laws, which is almost total annihilation. Yahweh will not allow mankind to completely destroy all life. His judgment is to allow mankind to reach a point where it will be recognized that all life would quickly disappear unless a Higher Power intervenes and rescues the remaining life on this earth.

Now is the time to prepare for the destruction this world is about to face beginning September 12, 2006. Mark this date on your calendar. Be prepared to get to The House of Yahweh, the only prophesied place of protection on the earth, and be among those who keep Yahweh's Laws and have the testimony of Yahshua our High Priest.

May Yahweh bless your understanding.

And this message of the Kingdom will be preached to all the world by the one who bears witness to all nations; and then the end will come. —Mattithyah 24:14
